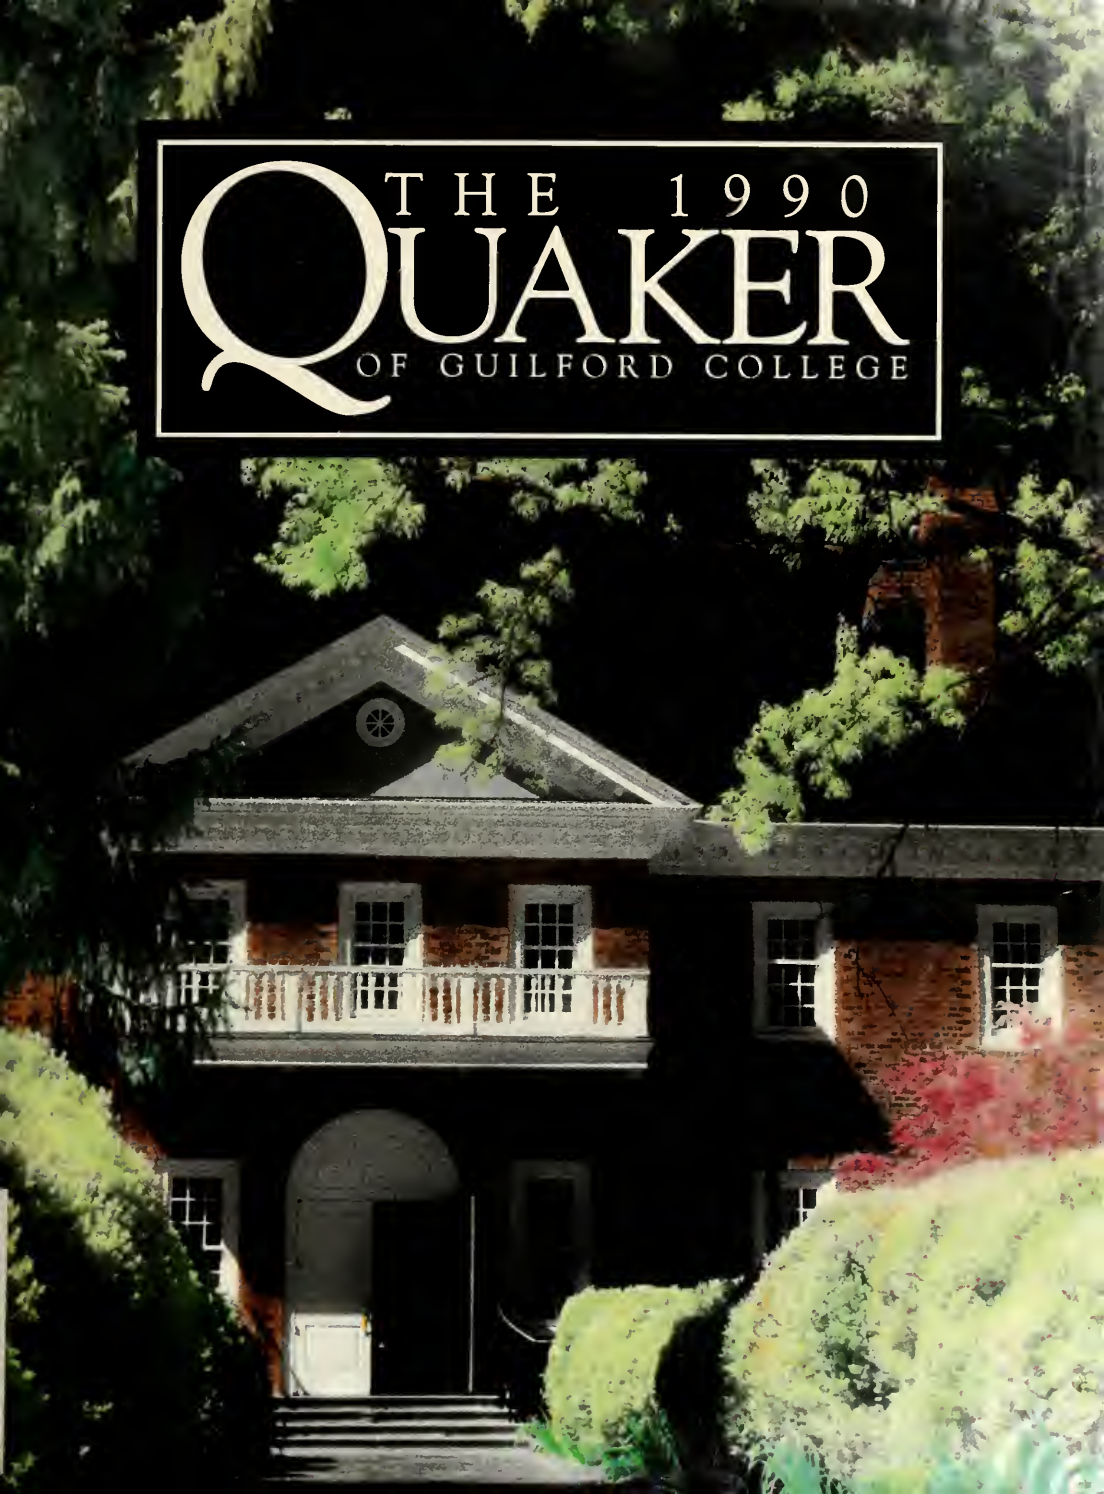
THE 1990 QUAKER OF GUILFORD COLLEGE



THE 1990 QUAKER OF GUILFORD COLLEGE

From the onset of the 1990 yearbook project which began a year and a half prior to publication, the primary concern of the Quaker staff was to create an unique chronicle of the people, places, events, emotions, and interactions that made up a year in the life of Guilford College. From over 12,000 photographs emerged the images which embody the many faces of life at Guilford College in the fall of 1989 and the Spring of 1990.

Over the course of the academic term, the student staff of the Quaker shot the film, designed the layouts, and created the format for this book. A calendar format was designed in which photographs are cataloged by the week in which they occurred. No page numbers exist within The 1990 Quaker as a result.

Though the completion and success of this book rested on the individual creative contributions of each staff member, there was a single motivating factor for each person's involvement: a true appreciation for all the elements that coalesce to make Guilford the wonderfully unique place that it is. Each one of the students recognized the uncommon strengths that bind us together as Guilfordians, and knowingly undertook the massive challenge of conveying this in words and pictures.

With true appreciation for the people, places, events, emotions, and interactions that happened in 1989-90, the student staff of the 1990 Quaker proudly presents a chronicle of a special time at a special place — the serenely shaded campus of Guilford College.

When September 1989 rolled around and all of the Guilford students from all over the world returned in full force, two great questions arose in the minds of about twenty people gathered on the second floor of Founders Hall late one Sunday night: What is Guilford College, and how do you do a yearbook? Those have been— and probably will remain— unanswered questions. We spent a great deal of time trying to conceive of a way to encapsulate the very essence of life at this college over a period of nine months.

We decided that the 1989-90 school year should be portrayed as a living thing— a chronicle of the events and people of Guilford as they occur throughout the Fall, Winter, and Spring. All too often we found ourselves immersed in this spontaneous energy that we were trying to record, the very fabric of memory. It was our challenge to try and get this energy down on film and paper— to trap it between the cover of a bound volume and preserve it for a lifetime. The product of our year-long endeavor is a volume that could be called radical in the world of yearbook journalism. We have ignored the standard yearbook formats involving trite themes that can easily be tagged-on to the events that make up a year. We felt that such an approach was much too simple— dividing the book into sections that cataloged the people and organizations like an encyclopedia. Our year here embodied more than such an easy angle on friendship, learning, and living. What we sought to capture was the essence of our good times, as well as our less than good times.

Seeking new insights into our friends, our faculty, and ourselves required a frame of mind in which we not only recorded events but developed instantaneous retrospection. We learned to see not only the people we knew, but also the people we didn't. Time became precious as we roamed around with cameras, observing all and living in the here and now, yet knowing that what was seen and photographed would not happen again.

How can one sift through the mounds of photographs and the multitudes of ideas of all that remains special about one's school? It is not impossible. It is not boring. It is enlightening and beautiful to say the very least. We tried to capture the essence of all that is Guilford: to walk through campus on a winter morning— the sky a crystalline azure deeper than can ever be remembered, the air so cold and crisp that it was a rush just to breath it; to feel like a part of the trees as the wind brushed them, wanting to feel that way for the rest of our lives; to walk to Founders Hall after the Christmas Concert and see the luminaries in the night-time haze, anonymous figures passing between them on the walk, enjoying with everyone the ethereal Christmas atmosphere that this creates for the campus; to be down at the lake on late Saturday afternoons when the sun is setting, watching the light set the trees ablaze across the water— feeling a warmth in knowing that when you return you will be among friends; to feel the kinship of people we always knew we would one-day meet, and accompany them down their paths of personal discovery and awareness— finding not only them, but ourselves; to savor the moment that a professor helped us discover and recognize beauty in previously unknown areas— finding new media and tools for personal expression of every feeling imaginable; to discover a sense of heritage within ourselves, a new bond with our parents who made us the people we are— learning to seek the good within all people and helping others to find good within themselves, making friends as close as sisters, brothers, mothers, and fathers— friends who will be within our hearts and memories for a lifetime— never once leaving us alone; to understand this magnificent thing called life and learning how to make it truly exceptional, gaining an awareness of the world that we all want to see, and understanding not only our place within it but our personal commission to change it for the better; to learn to recognize the needs of society and the less fortunate; to prepare for a future which we all learn not to fear, but to embrace, being guided by confidence in ourselves and each other; to recognize our mortality, and breath every breath and live every day with fervor, awareness, and conscience.

Our publication is not just a book. The 1990 Quaker is a living thing. It hopes to capture the brief combination of 1200 lives into a common union called Guilford College. In this sense, it is by no means complete. This book is a celebration of life at Guilford, and life everywhere else where people can come together as a caring whole. We did not create this book— we let the book reveal itself to us as the year unfolded. This happy group of twenty people who gathered together at the the beginning of the year have expressed a common appreciation for all that makes this campus unique. We each had a common vision and learned to seek its articulation together. We feel we are better people and better students, better friends and human beings as a result. So much more than a book indeed...a feeling...an attempt at embracing the quintessence of life.

Angie Bailey participates in one of the many informal discussions with her group at Camp Carroway. There, the freshman IDS cluster "Under Construction" took part in five days of intensive self-development.

CAMPFIRE UPPER LEFT

Guilford's class of 1993 enjoys a late night around the fire. Marshmallows were compliments of the ten SOS leaders who went along to be with their IDS groups.

Kathy Wellbery, Greg Loughlin, Eddy Pike, Kelli Dangerfield, and Rose Van Wagner get to know each other during time out of class. Under Construction at Camp Carroway lasted five days and was the first gathering for members of the class of 1993.

"We want to make them feel welcome. We've got to immediately get them involved in the life of the college. Guilford is a great place, but only if you really use it. We're here to help them learn how to use Guilford and make intelligent choices."

-Dick Dyer

CONSTRUCTION RIGHT

Ground was broken early in the year for the new telecommunications building. Work proceeded throughout the fall and spring, closing off the grounds in front of Bryan to pedestrians.

ALICE'S BOOTH UPPER MIDDLE

Freshmen chech-in kicked off Orientation '89 in Founders' lobby. Here, Alice Van Buren, a junior SOS leader, stands ready to hand out folders to freshmen and their parents.

THAT WAY UPPER RIGHT

Peter Reeves stands outside Founders Hall giving directions to lost newcomers. Main Campus orientation took place three days before the arrival of returning students, making SOS leaders the only upperclassmen available for directions.

MOVING IN LOWER MIDDLE

Freshman Nancy McCurry unloads her reserves from home into her room in Binford. For some students who went to Camp Carroway, the big move into college occurred the week before orientation.

DIRECTOR'S HELP LOWER RIGHT

Bryan Hall Director Jimmy Stocks welcomes Suzanne Moore and her father to the infamous Quad. Like SOS, the Residential Life Staff was on hand before and during Orientation to make the class of 1993's transition to college a bit easier.

Floyd Reynolds and the crew from the Registrar's Office moved into Sternberger for freshman registration and returning student's check-in.

SCHORRDOM UPPER RIGHT

Senior Lisa Schorr flashes a glance during orientation meetings with freshmen IDS groups. Meetings with advisors and SOS leaders made up the majority of time freshmen spent during there first weekend at Guilford.

THE I.D. LOWER MIDDLE

Few things serve to symbolize the start of a college career more than a college I.D.. Freshmen soon find out that the cards are necessary for little else other than getting into the cafe.

STICKER SHOCK LOWER RIGHT

Amy Schwartz gleefully reveals the cost of another semester's books to a student in the bookstore. As bookstore prices stayed basically the same, the diversity of merchandise available to students continued to expand. One can buy just about any kind of academic-related item ever conceived by modern industry.

MIZZO AND THE MAN UPPER LEFT

Bruce Darby and Mizzo the dog play frisbee on the Bryan-Milner lawn during Welcome Weekend '89, the official kick-off of the school year.

HEAD BANGER UPPER MIDDLE

In the middle of the Sex Police's second set on Saturday night, a young rocker decides to throw-down with the band. A total of five bands were involved with what became known as the fall's mini-Serendipity.

BAD ATTITUDES LOWER LEFT

Dan MacDonald, Karen Personette, and Michelle Godard kick-back in Boren Lounge as SOS's role in Orientation fades.

After the Sex Police wrapped-up their show on Saturday night, Fetchin' Bones took the stage with a very dynamic lead singer. WQFS sponsored the band, which granted live radio interviews to the campus station.

Jenny Harrison drives for a ball in the pre-game warm-up before the season opener against Baldwin-Wallace. Jenny totalled seven shutouts, a team record, for the year as the soccer team went 8-7-3, a team best.

REGGAE MON LEFT

Welcome Weekend '89 ended on Sunday with a blues band and what is fast becomming tradition here, a reggae band. Zion Wave entranced the crowd with carribean rhythms and a driving beat that set a very mellow mood on this Sunday afternoon. Here, the bass player delivers the opening riff to their first set.

DAIQUIRIES LOWER MIDDLE

The Residential Life Staff provided complimentary virgin daiquiries to the students in their respective dorms as a welcoming back to school. Hall Director Tracy Russ serves-up a round to Betsy George and Graham Stephenson on the Milner patio.

DISAPPOINTMENT LOWER LEFT

Cheerleader Christi McCartney reacts to the weather and the football team in the season opener against Union College of Kentucky. Losing in the 87° weather did not give her too much to cheer about.

"The school spirit's on the way up in football games, residence halls, and even in classrooms. Of course, it's always been high in John Grice's class."

-Barton Parks

WIDENED TRAILS UPPER LEFT

New Garden road underwent much needed construction throughout most of the fall to widen it to a four lane thoroughfare. The new entrance to the college is planned for New Garden road at Binford dorm and the city's completion of the project opened the door for the college's contruction of the enttance to begin.

THE PIT UPPER MIDDLE

Construction on the telecommunications building progressed in early fall with the complete demolition of two Frazier apartments; in their place...an ominous hole.

MATHABANE UPPER RIGHT

Renowned author Mark Mathabane visited the Guilford campus in September to answer questions of his much publicized flight from South Africa and to sign copies of his new book. Mathabane arrived shortly after his appearance on the Oprah Winfrey Show.

CONCENTRATION ABOVE

Mark Christensen plays tennis to relax after a long day of classes on Monday. Many Guilford students took time out from studies to unwind on the courts.

THE KICK IS... LEFT

Interior lineman John Lambert blocks the Union defense as Guilford attempts an extra point following a touchdown. Though the kick was good, Guilford lost 25-14.

Mark Luker gazes off into the distance—unaware that reality is infinite and the universe is shrinking. Notice the before/after effect in the lenses of the shades.

At the Student Leadership Conference held at the Greensboro Day School, Chrissy Lawrence and Scott Huger make their point in describing SOG (Spirit of Guilford) as Eric Reid, Alexandra Duckworth, and Nancy Cable-Wells look on. The conference lasted a full day and ended with a talk from President Rogers.

BINFORD BLUES LOWER MIDDLE

Freshman Quill Rackham sits with his thoughts and a Mr. Pibb outside his dorm. Binford, one of two coed dorms on campus, became home for a large number of freshman men and women in the fall and spring.

EARLY FALL RIGHT

The onset of fall came late in October and allowed a late departure of summertime weather. Walks to and from class became visually rewarding and heightened the momentum generated for saving our woods from Painter Boulevard.

TAKING THE DIVE UPPER MIDDLE

WORK DAY 1990 LEFT

One of the most significant events in Guilford's recent history occured with the successful Library Book Move. On November 1 and 2 the faculty, staff, and students moved over a quarter of a million books from the old building to the newly constructed stacks in under seventeen hours. The goal of this massive volunteer effort was achieved despite skepticism from the local community.

PRESS COVERAGE UPPER RIGHT

The Book Move became an event receiving both national and local press coverage. Here, Library Director Herb Poole is interviewed by a local television reporter. Articles regarding the project appeared in the New York Times and USA Today.

Stripped of books and shelves, all that remained in the library basement after the Book Move were a few light bulbs and the shelf supports. Rooms such as this await renovations that were scheduled to be completed sometime later in the year.

"The Book Move is a great example of the 'can do' attitude at Guilford. I'm impressed with the planning, organization, and community spirit this activity demonstrated. It was just super to see so many of our athletes involved."

-Phil Roach

PRESS CONFERENCE UPPER LEFT

A press conference kicked-off the book move on the morning of November 1. Addresses were givin by the College President, members of the Board of Trustees, the Director of the Library, and faculty members who organized the move.

CARTING AROUND UPPER CENTER

Books were loaded onto carts in the old building and rolled on a make-shift road of playwood into the new stacks. Clay Coleman and Dan Fredericks make the more scenic cart journey involving the freight elevator.

COMMENDATION UPPER RIGHT

A letter from Herb Poole was sent early in the new year to each student who participated in the move. The letter effectively conveys the impact of the move on the Guilford community.

WAITING LOWER RIGHT

At the end of the first day of the move, a group of movers gathers to watch the local network news coverage of the event.

Guilford College

January 15, 1990

Dear Guilford Friend:

I am writing to thank you, now that things have settled down, for the help you gave during the move of the library collection. For many of us that event will remain a sweet and wonderful memory for the rest of our lives. Certainly, such will be true for me.

Your participation in the move saved countless hours and dollars, and facilitated a task which, had it been handled without your help, could have resulted in tremendous inconvenience. All continue to be amazed that you and your fellow students were able to accomplish the entire move, as well as dismantling and storing most of our old stacks and shelves, in seventeen hours and twenty minutes.

The professional consultants we employed marveled at your achievement, saying that they had no experience on any campus to compare with it. Your spirit, your attitude and your perseverance made a lasting impression upon them.

I hope that, as future years pass, you will be able to look back on this event in the same way that we here will remember it. I hope, too, that you will believe that our library will always contain some part of the spirit you invested here on November 1 and 2, 1989, and that you will return again and again as you grow older to look with satisfaction upon a job well done.

Appreciatively,

SEASON CAPPER UPPER LEFT

At the last game of the season against Methodist, the football team's 18 seniors joined hands and walked out onto the field together for the toss. Guilford won 44-6, finishing the season with a 2-7-1 record.

RHODA LOWER RIGHT

After many years of faithful service to students studying in the Carnagie Room of the old library, Rhoda was moved into the new building during the renovation of her alcove.

Suzanne "Puff" Lilly goes up for a hit after being set by Emily King. Holly Rotalsky appears in the left foreground and Janet Siegfried on the right. Coach Currie's 300th career coaching win was a highlight for this team which ended the season with a 22-12 record. Their ambition to play in Hawaii at nationals was smothered after being eliminated by Catawba in the first round of the district 26 tournament.

BINFORD FORMAL UPPER LEFT

Binford residence hall planned their annual Christmas formal for Friday, December 8 at the Depot in downtown Greensboro. The weather, however, was uncooperative on this date. Greensboro saw one of the earliest snow/ice storms in its history, forcing the dance to be held in Sternberger Auditorium on campus. Despite the failure of the band to show-up and moderately doused expectations, the dance was a success with a large number of students attending. Here, Betsy Noell, Laura Simpson, Matt Mann, and Ketura Duncan are about to be attacked by two masked bandits.

SCHNUGGLES LOWER RIGHT

Stuart Vaughan and Chrissy Lawrence enjoy a quiet moment during the festivities. Luckily, a D.J. was found at the last minute to save the dance from total silence.

Julie Parrish Workman

May 24, 1967 — December 7, 1989

If you meet me and forget about me—you have lost nothing.
If you meet Jesus and forget about Him—you have lost everything!

—Julie Workman

I remember seeing Julie's name on my raquetball class roster. I had heard about her "illness" and tried to somehow prepare myself to deal with her as if there was nothing wrong. I didn't want to make her feel different from the rest of the class when I knew that I might, in fact, have to treat her differently. It was a task I did not look forward to as I prepared for class.

After the first day or two, I couldn't help thinking to myself how normal she seemed. Indeed, she did everything I asked the class to do. As the course wore on, I found my uneasiness was completely unfounded. In fact, I finally began to realize that she might have been the healthiest in the class. Her fun-loving, try my best, accept success, learn from failure attitude was a wonderful experience for all of us who came in contact with her.

Julie's death was more than the loss of a life. She was an example and a reminder of the potential in all of us. She made us aware of our shortcomings and has led many of us to be better, more productive individuals.

—Charles Forbes

Julie was a remarkable young lady. The marks she left on our campus will have everlasting value. She was a student, classmate, a leader in FCA, a strong supporter of our athletic program, but most importantly she was a true friend. She gave us a solid role model for what a genuine friend should be. The quality that comes to mind the most is that Julie is that Julie was faithful in her friendships. I know this was a result of her relationship with Jesus Christ. She would encourage you, pick you up, push you forward, keep you straight, and expect the best from you—because she always gave you her best! All who knew Julie surely miss her, but are quite thankful that they had the opportunity to call her their friend.

—Jerry Cornwell

There are so many things to say about Julie. I have never known a person who was so caring and interested in every person she knew. When she signed her name, she would put a little smiley face after it. That was truly appropriate. She was always smiling and she made others around her smile too. I will never forget or stop missing Julie.

—Heidi Meroth

"There is a friend who sticks closer than a brother." Proverbs 18:24. Our God reigns.

—Lori Helton

I'm sorry I never got the chance to meet Julie. From the way I hear others talk about her I know she was a wonderful person. One day I will meet her in Heaven.

The weekend spring festival that everybody at Guilford eagerly awaits took place on March 30-31. Although intermittent rain dictated that the festivities of the first two days be held in Sternberger, some sunlight was welcomed by the participants Sunday at the lake. All taken into consideration, Serendipity lived up to its much heralded legend, as it always seems to find a way of doing. Pictured clockwise from upper left are: Rich Parker, Sarah Beth Calloway, Rich Kane, Brwyn Malbasa, Rose Van Wagner, Lia Huddart, Haydee Phelps, and a suite full of people stomping on doritoes and oreo cookies.

I could probably go on forever about my years at Guilford, so I will just state a few. My first semester I gained a roommate, Kenny & Marty & Tom Cruise, dancing on Barry's shoulders, freshman IPS, Skinner's the Cooker to Coach G, the Dorm Houses, the end of "Working," Cher, spring breaks in Key West, Gamble Place, the Friends, and all of the other times that I will remember but have forgotten it exists. I wish to say to everyone that I have met, especially the people that I met close to. All of you mean so much to me. Finally, I want to say to myself and others, so that they grow up to be mean so much more now. Goodbye.

I cannot tell you where or what I might be doing in the year 2010 but I hope to be happy and accomplishing something that I am proud of. See ya class of '00 in twenty.

"It is the sound of the leaves left blown by the wind
That's got me out here on this spooky old highway tonight
It is the cry of the river with the moonlight shining through
That ain't what scares me baby what scares me is losin' you
They say if you die in your dreams you really die in your bed
But I woke last night I dreamed my eyes filled up right back into my head
And God's light came shinin' on through
I woke up in the darkness scared and breathin' and born anew
It wasn't the cold river born us I felt rushing over me
It wasn't the bitterness of a dream that didn't come true
It wasn't the wind in the grey fields I felt nothing the sigh my arms
No no, baby it was you
So hold me close honey say you'll be forever mine and tell me you'll be my lonely valentine."

My forever gratitude and love Mom and Dad, your constant generosity and support has held me steadfast through out all of my experiences. I thank you.

Many thanks to the professors who have enlightened me — Sung-ol Sohn-min, Louise of Gone, geologic delights of the world, wow.

Anne, Lisa and all wonderful friends, you'll be in my hopes always. Perhaps the most difficult part of graduating is leaving all you. For our friendship may be a transient thing.

Jen (roommate) it has been a fun and interesting 3 years... California, Dole (money to tennis camp to Kansas) Bahamas... I'm glad you decided to join us; thanks for all the good talks. Chuckles is the one!... Tara, reach for the best that is in you; bring to them, the best is yet to come; thanks for making me laugh, just give me a call and I'll be there... Coach, thank you for the four best football years of my life; you and your family are the best. Thank you all... Hunter, times have been rough, but I love you more than ever; the best is yet to come... Lisa and Sam, I hope you both still have continued success at Guilford; be the best that you can be, and keep on smilin'... Hey girls, where is that pale white, back-scratched, big-kidd'ance, red-headed, klepto-mania, that don't make with John Michael? Thanks to Hunter, Liz, Jen, and Tara, I love you all. Thanks Mom and Dad for allowing this to happen. I LOVE YOU.

I came to Guilford a measly 155-pound freshman with little idea of what I was going to do after I graduate. Here I am now, 4 years later and maybe a pounds heavier, and still no idea about what I am going to do after graduation. I think it's exciting to have all these choices ahead of me. I am in control of my own destiny. Right and mostly so in only when I think about who will be paying the bills for me on.

Beloved, when all is said and done, when you stand before God... Naked, stripped of all your possessions. Naked, stripped of your accomplishments. Naked, stripped of all the veneers of life and known as you are. When you stand alone, accountable for no other but yourself. When His eyes as of flame of fire see you as you are — naked with all open to God's sight, what then, my friend, shall matter? Naughts, but did you know Him... did you believe Him? Was He said in His Word, did you obey Him? Not were you happy, fulfilled, satisfied, known, accepted, rejected, sick, well, prosperous or poor, but did you know Him... how well? Did you believe Him... to what extent? Did you obey Him? No matter the trial, the test, the temptation, DID YOU ENDURE?

In 2012 I'll be 31, living in Jesus Christ, my Lord and Savior, and loving God with all my heart, soul and might. Second, loving my neighbor as myself. Think married to ASM.

I love you Kathleen. I love you Leslie. I love you Betsy. I love your Acheson. I love you Karen. I love you Ernest. I love you Wednesday [illegible]. I love you everyone else who knows I love you. And I love you Brian, my sexy friend. I love the family that I have and the family that I have lost.

Freshman year I learned how to have fun.

Sophomore year I learned how to work.

Junior year I learned how to work and have fun at the same time.

Senior year I am learning to keep my serenity and work and have fun.

Mostly, I hope I've learned what you all taught me best — how to love.

"Dare to be great, Ms. Coucus!"
"I'll try"

— G.B. Trudeau

In 2015, I will be trying to live for the moment and eternity at the same time. I will still be rooting for the Giants, and I will still be learning how to cook.

Andrew Brunk

Special thanks to my generous parents, to Dick Morton, and to the French guys for four great years.

Eric Lee Buck

I've gotten a lot of value from my time at Guilford which has done much to change my life. Now I can say with confidence and pride, "Been there, done that!"

In 2015, I'll be middle-aged, on a boat reading a magazine under a tropical sun. On one knee will be a cold lemonade with a little umbrella.

Amy Carole Bullock

Christopher, Tamie, Herume and Yo!
I would like to say "thank you" to John Grice and Larry "Pete" Dake!

In the year 2015 I will be married and probably paying Guilford tuition for my sons and daughters.

Where is my roomdog? Come on, Lucca, [illegible] Ethel Merman before we leave. Hey Betsy, I'll meet you in the psych labs. Are we ever going to finish reading Freud!? Kath, let's go hit the spike [illegible]... Hurricane Heather, Janeane — did you get your face stuck in the fence? [illegible] spins, who is the jello-sucking champion? RELAX! Oh, down in Mexico... Ch,Ch,Ch! [illegible]? Stevie? Is this paradise, or what? What do you want to be when you grow up? Hey Bill, have you talked to Gary yet? Let's go cruisin' in the "Sanford and Son" truck! Hang in there, Janeane. Good luck to the class of 1990. Thanks Mom and Dad — I finally made it! I love you, Larry.

I'll be Healthy, Wealthy, and Wise in 2015!

Charlotte Vail Callahan

Well, here's to four years of challenges and changes, unforgettable friends, memories of Mexico and majestic sunsets, summer adventures, camping in Key Largo with Jade, the Oscars, sledding at the lake, late chocolate parties and "the one-night stand", cafeteria meals, the escape to UVa, scary nights and the more dreams. I'm glad I came.

In 2010? I'll be doing whatever... we'll see!

Special thanks to my Mom and Dad for without them my graduation would not have been possible. Love, always to Daniel for helping me through tough times and more. Always remember my freshman year — cheerleading, football and hockey — Megan (big K girls), Tatiana, Stephanie and all the cheerleaders. And love & thanks to Wendy, a great roommate and friend. To Roxie Wendy and I will always love you and miss you.

In the year 2010? I see myself married with at least 2 children and also having a successful career in television broadcasting.

Keith Anthony Cipollaro

It took me almost four years of college before I had faith in my own abilities. During these years many people contributed to making me a more complete individual. I want to thank: All the guys on the tennis team, Jen S. for laughing at all my jokes and your roommates for laughing at some, Hunter for our intense smoking sessions, Jerry for photographing when necessary, S.H., Troy, L.A., my new friends Brian S. and Dorothy, Professors J.O. and W.B.; Special thanks to J.S. — "ring as Japan." I miss you Stevie D. — You helped make my senior year a great one; Kuhlkori — Just for being you and taking my abuse. Very special thanks to: Annie, Ken, Aunt, Dina, Tom, Poochie, Mom, Dad, Scoop and Hauta. Thanks also to Goldie and Tony P.

In 2010? still learning and still enjoying life.

"What the hell do I do now?"

Thanks Gulford for an excellent time and the chance to meet some of the greatest people in the world. Especially for Long, Laura, Brian, Connie, Beth, Steve L., Jerry, Tully, Jay, Nate and Michelle. I'll never forget you or the great times like, Brom Dorm, freshman year, Pantie Peas, parties at Beth & Bill's, Serendipity, Cancun, the dirty kitchen, room staying at my house, Friendly Hills and just hanging out with the bunch points.

Good luck Class of 1987. I know my will all reach our goals and become rich, famous and happy!

My stay at Guilford College has been most meaningful. During my further adventure in learning and enrichment, I know that I will be able to apply the principles that I have learned at Guilford. Guilford College will always be in my heart and I hope that I will always live up to its good name.

Lastly, I will try very hard even if it means going an extra mile, to give some substance back to the community.

Currently, during the year of 2/87, I see myself as being successful and an example for others. Also, during this period, I see myself as having grown in my religion and above all to respect and love all people regardless of race, color or creed.

Carmen... our connection was phenomenal... thanks for being the beautiful person you are and showing me the way... I'm grateful for our talks, our memories... Jerry, Kathy, I learned more from what we shared than I could in a lifetime — thank you/you. Sarah — I'm so thankful for knowing you, remember our "baby" past, bless you both... Susbeau — your laughter lights up my life... GH I missed you... TPOOCD — never forget the world outside of this room... Todd — you're one of the best aspects of my Guilford experience... Allison — I wish you nothing but happiness... My friends in Hemingway, without you I couldn't be me... Participate '86 ... Marnie "I here, than there, yet both but one"... My wonderful family, I am eternally grateful to your beautiful gift of life...

"When you meet a stranger look at his shoes keep your money in your shoes put your trouble behind when you meet a stranger look at her hands keep your money in your hands put your travel behind what are you going to call for what do you have to say
when you meet a stranger look at his shoes keep your memories in your shoes put your travel behind in the end of the day when there are no friends when there are no lovers who are you going to call for what do you have to change familiar face in strange place of the kind heart and I'd like it here if I could form and save you from a long run away who are you going to call for what do you have to say keep your hat on your head home is a long way away"

Being President of English was a unique experience. Dealing with people and personalities every day was frustrating and challenging at the same time. My senior year has been a trying one but with the help of friends and family I am now on my way to graduate school. I would like to thank my professors, especially in the classics department, for their help and support during my stay at Guilford. Guilford has done a lot to change me and my way of thinking and now I look forward to achieve greater success and happiness. Step Dee is thing '5' out of here.

I will be 40 in 2012 but age is only a state of mind. Striving for higher goals, accomplishing more than the years before. You can mess perception but reality won't budge. Hope is epidemic and optimism spreads, bitterness breeds intuition and ignorance breeds intuition.

I have really enjoyed my four years at Guilford. Being at Guilford has helped me to grow and develop as a person. I have found the diversity at Guilford to be enriching and interesting. I hope that Guilford will always emphasize diversity among persons. I feel that it is important for the atmosphere of Guilford to remain diverse so that the graduates of Guilford will go into the world with a respect and admiration for the richness and diversity of the human community.

In the year 2010: I see myself involved in a career that I enjoy. My career will probably involve working with children. I also see myself enjoying life as a wife and a mother.

Guilford has given so many fond memories that I will always cherish. Soccer team—getting thoughaccustoming... all the great parties... work-study in the P.E. Center... Paris semester... the Gamble House... and the list goes on. It was the special people I met here along the way that made it all happen. Although I cannot mention each of you individually, you know who you are. Thanks for all your love and friendship. I hope I was able to return it. Let's make it last a lifetime! I would like to thank my family for all of their support and encouragement. I couldn't have done it without you. Best of luck and wishes to the class of 1995! The afternoon has gently passed us by... Bring on the night!

I see myself in the year 2010: with successful career in accounting and a healthy and happy family. If I always keep laughing then I know I'll be happy.

To Guilford I say thanks. It was everything I had hoped it would be and more. I have gained a lot of wisdom here and would like to leave a little of it behind. "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again... Then give up. There's no use being a dumbbell about it." — W.C. Fields. But remember what Mark Twain said, "Let us be thankful for the fools. But for them the rest of us could not succeed." To my Union fellows I have said one hundred times, "If you don't arise with me, it means you've been fourning." To the fellas entering the business world, remember those "If you pick up a starving dog and make him prosperous, he will not bite you. This is the principal difference between a dog and a man." — Mark Twain. / Of course, "No business opportunity is ever lost. If you fumble it, your competitor will find it." But this I have to say to everyone, as Confucius said, "Choose a job you love, and you will never have to work a day in your life." I wish this for all. Thank you Guilford, it has been fun.

Corissa Jordan Gold

My love and thanks to my family. Without your love and support I would not have made it through. Julia "Julie": May all the memories live on in our hearts forever. I love you, best friend. "Make your life extraordinary." DPS / Wynnie: Loving the times shared. Memories of you are forever treasured. / Gregg: I've loved you by the tough you, thanks. "Whether you win or lose that counts, probably less. There are winners, and there are losers. And if you decide to become one of the former, the journey through life can be a little lonely.

When you're a winner, you have to set the standard for excellence wherever you go. You have to battle against the fatigue, the intimidation, the human tendency to just want to take things a little easier. You have to be able to come up with, time and again, one consistently great performance after another. Be grading. And I don't know many people willing to make the effort. [illegible] the few, few professionals you meet along the way that help make the journey just a little easier to manage."

With all my heart, thank you to my parents for this life-long gift. Along this course great thanks to Linda Brown, Robert Williams, Rudy Schar, and the spirit of women's varsity soccer.

"The waves come crashing in to be followed by calm waters
What shall we call it?
Peace do you think? or maybe joy
They're both the same, you know
Pie and Peace that is — Pie is Peace and Peace is Pie
Both the same. Equal unlike you and me.
Shades of gray
Shades hide, Gray confuse
Hide, Confuse. These are same
Sublime
The tide
Dismay
This day
Together we are,
Shades of Gray." (1-29-03)

Thank you, Guilford, for the experience. To all the people I annoyed – sit, eat, ... poison.

Dummy, Sheep, Merlin, Mookie, Snicker-Snack, Guy, ... A straight years (give or take a semester abroad) and you'll be missed by this Yats. Roger & Miranda, whatever happens I love you both. It's over. The USS Antioch is going down, the Melathonian Pride is permanently docked. Rascal will see me no more, as will Spanky. Travis, Butch, Anton (demo #1-3). I don't want to sound even more lame than I already do, but I'll miss y'all's nonsense (note the Southern college slant). Foster Tan, Dad. For you my B.F.S. I don't think we'd long time to discover how much fun you put into. To the cast of LINE Starts, it looked long, but it was good. So, signing off (Cute, Marie Mott, Comic #4, Lenny Kilmurgan-Kinowski, SUPREME being, Lord of Chaos, Pop Boy, Parsley Magic, and etc. Hey, an I! Correction.

I had always seen myself with a Ph.D., and teaching somewhere in 2010, but now I'm not so sure. I still might do that, or maybe go into broadcasting after all, or maybe pump gas in New Jersey.

Christopher N. Heiskell

I would like to thank my entire family, especially my mother and father, who have made priceless contributions to my growth and development. I would also like to thank Kirsten Sims, her parents, and her grandparents, who have played major roles in my happiness at Guilford and elsewhere.

I will always remember my senior year as the year the Wall came down.

I love you Kirsten.

In 2010: Mellow-and-very happy.

Let's see, in the year 2010 I'll be 42 years old. I have to admit how I'll see myself in the year 2013. I don't even know how I'll see myself in the year 1991. If everything goes as planned, I'll be shoveling manure in a stable. That is if everything goes as planned.

Good times... I'll never forget my freshman year, rugby, Mexico and everything in between. It may have taken a while to get here, but who cares. It's only when you realize how far you have come that you realize how far you have to go. Good luck to everyone, thanks to my parents for all their help, understanding... and patience.

To My Teachers
(Bob, Andy, Joe, Mel, Ellen, Vicky, Sandy)

It is here that I was born in my thirteenth year,
Conceived in desire and in audacity,
Borne through self-satisfaction and arrogance
To humiliation, then to awe and hope
Until finally brought to the Light... a glimmer of the promise of Beulah!
A lull for short of my ambition,
Forever disappoint those I love most.
Labor... Labor in grief — now Alone
yet never fully alone;
I am surrounded by a great cloud of witnesses
Who as friends and hearts received my new-born self,
Who helped me learn to stand and walk and be...
Now you stand inside — some obscured by Shadow —
Yet I see you cheering me on, and I find courage in your Love.

A transfer from Appalachian State University in 1983 because I felt I needed a smaller school to enhance my academ ability. As a four-year member of the football team I have learned the value of hard work and friendship and I am truly indebted to everyone responsible for this. The only regrets that I have about graduating is leaving all my friends, the people that have helped me through thick and thin. I love you all and in keeping Guilford I'd like to say one last thing to those people if "I can make it, anybody can." Good luck and good bye.

In the 21's I see myself in a contributing factor in the work force of America either in business or pro-m. Because of the liberal arts background that I achieved at Guilford and because of all the friends that I still have from my college days.

It has been a GREAT four years — I hope I have this from super friends in the year 2000.

Chris Hunter

The memories that I have accumulated over the years are endless. I will never forget: Living with Morgan and surviving, living with Jay, Richard and Suzer at Main Chapel and expanding... oink, living with Harry Mo, Tony, Mike, Barry, John, Bob, Billy, Button and Bucky Goldstein at Gamble Place!... is the place still standing? Concert weekend but Key West is best. Tastes like chicken, not the New Garden fence. I live for that ride on a bicycle. Mom never knew and was never told. Jean like a dog... or like Hunter Hodge is the first to say. If I must go next to with this thing... the one person that touched me most, taught me the most and will be with me always was Jenny Pendry. I didn't think it would! END.

In 2000? In high school I was asked the same question and I still have the same answer: How in the hell should I know where I am going in life when I don't even know what I am doing after lunch.

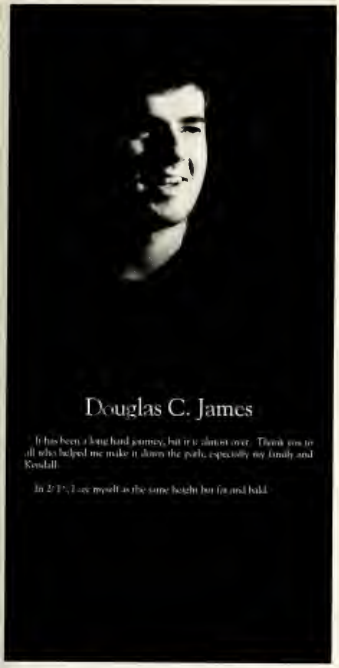
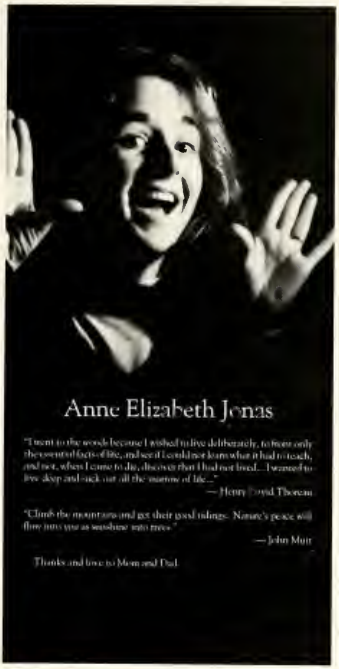
Thanks to my family for helping to cover all the "other" areas of my life for the past three years. Your support has made graduation finally a reality.



Douglas C. James

It has been a long hard journey, but it is almost over. Thank you to all who helped me make it down the path, especially my family and Kendall.

In 2/1", I see myself as the same height but fat and bald.



Anne Elizabeth Jonas

"I went to the woods because I wished to live deliberately, to front only the essential facts of life, and see if I could not learn what it had to teach, and not, when I came to die, discover that I had not lived... I wanted to live deep and suck out all the marrow of life..."

Ralph Waldo Emerson and all the help in life. Stuart and Ryan c/ 1E. The dances I never attended? in my own front yard. Was there a band Jerry? Flag poles are too high to fall from SIV... Get some balls. Sing me a song, take me on a ride from hell! They're going to watch the bus! When will the bug-man's think-close last night. "Proper" from Pete. Who knew it would be like this. Where is my brown leather.

In 2/16, I'll be far far from the South living with the memories of my youth long since gone, and poverty that was Guilford.

Megan Keiser

"Everything must be loved (Sing-song). Usually and dance, make faces and give flower bouquets, treat to be loved. You never notice that trees do everything to get attention in life, except walk."

Guilford, it lies to be wonderful. Mom, you are my constant, thanks for always being there. Mike and Dexter, I could not have done it so well without you. Thanks forever! Friends, so many, you made my college years. Liz, Jon and Katherine, you have been the best. Thank we could still dance? Hell yes! Katherine, it has been great. Roommate/friend, you are the very best. Laurel, just being "together" — so much fun. Forever friends. New Year '92 — Long Island, the best. Susan, I love our talks. Into the absolute love of my life. Thanks for constantly believing in me. Being "in love" is the best. Thanks for introducing me to it. Together forever. I'll see you for the rest of my life. 1-4-3! Hey everybody, everything happens for the best — Live, Love and be Happy!

I'll be the vice-president of marketing for a large company in 2/13. Married to my favorite Sheenan Tank.

Gary Klaus

"The bond that links your true family is not the one of blood, but of respect and joy in each other's life. Rarely do members of one family grow up under the same roof."

— Illusions, Richard Bach

Hopefully with our sounding, too mellifluous, I want to express my thanks to all of the people that have become my family here and for those I have to know who have always been in my family.

Especially: the people with whom I have worked (and not worked), the few with whom I have shared myself, the ones that I met in Germany.

"Don't be dismayed at the good-byes. A farewell is necessary before you can meet again. And meeting again, after moments or lifetimes, is certain for those who are friends."

— Illusions, Richard Bach

I have no idea what I'll be doing in 2/1/. I don't know what I'll be next year, but whatever it is I probably will still be learning.

Janeane Louise Klock

In the year 2/1/, I see myself living happily by the ocean with a husband and a family. I also hope to be working in a career which gives me complete enjoyment.

Charlotte Ann Knotts

I'll become internationally famous in 2/1/ for devising impeccably clever ways to appear rolled in camera at major sporting events. At least I used my degree!

Wendy Suzanne Kramer

"An intersection runs your sentence right."

I see myself a being forty-one years old in 2/1/.

Thomas Lea Lalley

Four years of mischief and below my face in this yearbook is a statement from total spontaneity. I forgot to write something for this! um... Well, who knows? For the time has been powerful and the space sacred. This community is my beach ball, which is a weird thought, but we bounce off it like overhead volleys to you. Anyway... "I'm still walking so I'm sure that I can dance, just a wave of circumstance, just a tiger in a trance." Fare you well.

In 2/1/... I'll be smart, healthy, strong, and on the top of a large mountain looking into exile, smiles of unspeakable beauty. In between these times I'll spend my time running the world with my selfish or political expectations elsewhere in the universe.

"So much for these days. So an practice may make me mild-fine — perfect, I'll dare inhabit the world trenchant in motion as an eel, solid as a cabbage-head. I have moments a curl of mist stretts upward from a field, visible as my breath, house alone a road at end winting like old women knitting, breathless to tell these tales."

— Adrienne Rich

To my friends, thank you. I love you.

Laura Ann Lasky

Thanks to everyone who made these four years a lot of fun... You know who you are... Soccer, Int... don't ever be a jockette... Michen 12/87, eat sh spitz... Women of 911-C. LYNGF... Thanks Mom and Dad... In my mind I've gone to Cardiff (L.T.).

Special thanks to Mom and Dad — who, without your financial and emotional support I could have never made it. I love you. SPNV — in your eyes I've seen love, understanding, compassion, and caring — what more could one possibly give? You mean the world to me, may sunshine always be on your shoulder. Tony you, "you" Tom — keep in touch — I'll need to hear your laugh when I begin to take life too seriously. Alexandra — a seed is plantedd, a rose blooms. I have watched this happen to you and you are truly beautiful. Always remember it's what's inside that counts the most. LX AE, HW, LS, LS — "...you've got a friend." Thanks for the memories — Bob Hope.

I will hopefully be a successful physical therapist in 2/1/... working in a hospital or private practice. I hope to have a family and I'd like to finally build my Victorian dream house in the country.

John Thomas Lilly

Four quick years, it's been real, it's been fun, and it has(n't) been real fun. I've learned a lot. If you don't eventually stand up for something, you'll fall for anything, just be yourself, never give up, and don't ever have a tendency to be where I by gravity.

To the football players and coaches — keep your heads up, work hard, and just Do it... especially to my boys the "Good Hands Receiver" and to the quarterbacks who get them the ball. Keep getin' busy.

There is not words enough to express all of the people who have become very special to me, but you know who you are. I don't think God for putting on the brakes and taking charge of my life. Thanks to all, Dad, Mom, and my sister Susan for loving and supporting me and for footing the bill.

Galatians 2:20 Galatians 3:23 Romans 12:1-2

We'll see you!!! Lilly

I will be serving God daily in 2/1/... This might include being one of the "sea flag foot" (Marines), live, having a Quaker Club membership, and holding down a spectacular job... and I'll have two cats.

Susan Lindsay

Cheese, relish, bye!

I will be a bush pilot in Alaska selling salmon jerky to support my arctic expeditions.

In 2-4, I'll still be a Christian Soprano biology geek — and my love is a year!

Laura Neill Marshall

diary entry 5/20/89 in White Sulphur Springs, Montana:

"I'm sitting on a hill — thinking of what to think, that I don't work. In front of me is an urban-looking area of land — you know it more, the Grey mountains in the distance. A curving river and a curving road down below. The road leads to a red-roofed house — where there is lemonade. I'm waiting yet because I just crossed the river to get to the other side. I slipped because was thinking of snakes. It rains on that side, the other side was where I should've stayed. Lots made would've been good right now if it's windy, but the clouds are motionless. It looks like rain in one spot, more, make that three spots.

I'm cold because I'm wet, but very content. It took me hours to get here so I better head back. Besides, a bug just bit me. Goodbye school-work. Here I come river.

In 2-4, I will have a family (husband, 2 kids) living on the east coast (or maybe on a farm out west?) I will be happy with my self — satisfying job. I will be in excellent shape — in body and mind.

I will certainly miss Guilford and the great times I have had here. I will never forget my three great roommates, Robin, Christy and Lisa. Thank you Mom and Dad, without your support I could have never made it through. And a special thank you to Scott who made college wonderful and life worth living!

Thanks Guilford! These last four years at Guilford will last for a lifetime in my brain. I miss so much it will the friends I have met here who helped in me, especially George, Rebecca, and Kendra. I learned so many of all night long (meaningful of long nights!). All of you will graduate soon, I would like to give every special thanks to Zim at ASU. I love you and I miss you! But the warmest thanks goes to my mother and grandmother. Guilford would not have been possible without you both. Thanks for being there always. I love you both very much.

May all your dreams come true.

J. Bruce, your brother and companion in tribulations, and in the kingdom and patience of Jesus Christ, to the church and population of Guilford College. Greetings.

To my fellow brothers and sisters called to tennis, I charge you to preach the word! Be ready and available, for the Spirit shall pick up you to become agents of change, both within yourselves and Guilford. Above all, Love God, whom you love for those in the world to perfected.

To my former comrades in football, you have endured the hardships and failures, now I charge you to give of ourselves one another. Following the example of our Lord Jesus Christ! You shall be a light unto Yahweh!

Finally, to my well beloved brother: Guilford, Janice, Dave, John, Steve, and my teammate and associate Bobby over three short years, Greg.

I Love You. Grace and Peace, Bruce.

In 2000, under Christian stewardship with God in his control, since He could do it in no time. He gave the Lord in love with my family and ministering to youth.

"I do not and pretend to even do, But you can pick the wild fruit and I'm sure I'm smiling all the time. If I don't get the chance to show you the way, But all I could do was worry and pray, Is the biggest thing I can really know. One day, All the dead roses break loose and roses will start to bloom. The gentlemen above I know in his infinite wisdom, the heavens of all. He dressed the sincerity and gentleness, the behind mere gimmicks poses and masks, pitching demons and hoaxes, behind the grimace and sins, behind their silence, sinners, and curses, Jesus saw, Holly, Holly, Holly, who had been loved enough and who had not and greatness, because, some in crowd believing in them. And for another thing, He an angelic practiced while He preached. From the Pharisees and the Sadducees, Holy, Holy, Holy, who came to give the sign to man, who didn't want to hear the mine. Yet, for the love of us, He was crowned with spit and blood, punched, beaten and abused and humiliated with the sins of the world of the two. And still He could see in prayer, saying "Father please forgive them." I asked Jesus "How much do you love me?" He stretched his "The nails" and He stretched out His arms, and died in spirit and in truth."

To Bob, I am so sorry you had to do the work you did, and good luck and I'm sure I'll see you at some other time. Thanks for the memories and everything you do for us. Bob, you are the best.

It's been great being with everyone at Guilford College. I'll miss the friendships, the fun, the laughs, the good times. Shenanigans, Wacky and wild, my mom and dad, and Guilford College. Thanks for everything, you look after with pride on your parents. They are Billy Bob's and number one in my book. I will be in touch with everyone. Production is better made. Who knows? — that is a joke. Life is such that sometimes Simple Have you and friends to all the only are the best friends I have done it without you. To my parents I love you very much and I'll see you at the Victor Motion stuff.

Happily married in the end of my days in 2000.

How could I possibly sum up my Guilford experience? Three long years have not only given me continuous personal, intellectual, and spiritual growth, but also the best friends I will ever have. I am so thankful for the many terrific students and faculty I've come into contact with here. I will always look back on these years in thankful, positive, and progressive ways in my life. I'd like to thank my family for giving me this immeasurable gift. Love is where all of us belong!

"Sleeping horses hear the rain
Put your backs to the golden hay
Don't even look behind at what you've done
For your work has just begun
There'll be dry weather in the end
Tell that rain it owes you an ear
Your eyes — and burn again"

Two AWESOME ROOMDAWGS: Sed & Megan — Do you see I miss them my friends? equal dinners, sympathy, hot purses, Hedgehogs, Quinnies, dragon purses, cookouts, lunches and shut jaws, "you aren't SCARED are you?", Jim's House, "The Suite From Hell", the fan chair, scamatin' in the car, bye-night chats, snowball fights, football games, intramurals, I-POS CAITLIN — in search of the ultimate girls, BEEMERS, THOX 98, "Who's your date?", 41 Guilford football fan, Schroff — Klock & Gidget — are inside it!, Cowboy-midlife & Clay Black, "Blame it on the Bee" 7/11/96 — James Alan Scott, "I'll always love you baby", Southern Comfort & Capt. Morgan, "Only at Guilford", Laura, Megan, Gulia, Wes, Michele, Cott, Jules, Sal, Emily, Debbie, Diane, Charles, Jess, Gloria, Bobby, Steve, Laura K. and all the rest I LOVE YOU ALL — thank for making these four years a blast — I never could have done it with out you! To Sarah Rose, thanks for getting me "razed!" "Stick a fork in me — I'm done!!!"

In 2010: I'm retired as a coach, watching my 3 children grow, working with kids, driving in my Beamer with the radio blaring, and living in a big house so I have room for all my pets.

It has been a great four years at Guilford, yet I'm glad it's almost over. I want to say thanks to my parents for all their support. I love you both! To Megan, thanks for being a wonderful friend and photo-stay in touch. Finally, to my husband Wayne, I love you with all my heart and thanks for all your love and support. I couldn't have made it without you!

Well, in 2010 I'll still be married to Wayne and hopefully have some beautiful kids. We will be living in Wilkes and I'll be in the middle of an enthusiastic, close-knit family.

Remember all the Spring Breaks — Cape Fear, and Lincoln. Sun in the beach, good times. Carlton Antiques — who could ask for a better job with five mothers looking after you. Mum road trips to Duke. You have to love a 6'10" Egyptian! Miss Kish in Mars. This can from Maryland required an broken heart. Getting Dean off to the Vista. Kelly, and Megan — I love you! Kids — I hope you will share your lives with me. Where to next? Megan — Atlanta, D.C., Texas? We will visit minutes in our apartment. None of this would have been possible without the love of my parents.

In 2010 I'll be the owner of an antique store. Married to my second wife for nearly a football player living in a five bedroom house on a lake.

I transferred here in 1987. That was a good thing to do. The atmosphere here has been right for me.

I miss my friends here a few times. I don't see how my father has done it daily for 24 years. Quite admirable! P.S. Hello PS.

I see myself in 2000 as being physically fit when I am 43. Perhaps I will be a loving husband who does everything next to impossible for his wife. I'm not really sure.

I've just been thinking what a long, strange, journey it's been. Nothing holds but make the best of it before it passes through our hands into our wrinkled hands. With these hands I will clench the tops of life and fling it off time. One day I will look back, no longer being able to fly, and say to myself, "I've found the hope for which we flown fly. Now it's time to take another journey. Never be afraid of the journey just open of your wrinkled hands and fly."

Well, I guess it's time for me to face the reality of being a senior. Taking this picture, and writing this paragraph, is like the first real sign for me of being a graduating senior. Besides playing in my last home game I think this picture and paragraph are the most exciting things that have happened in this last part of the first semester. I'm glad these things are happening, but I have to see my years at Guilford end. I have really enjoyed being here, I can't say that everything was peachy, but the things that weren't I learned from. I'm glad that I chose Guilford because being black and a female I feel that I have a big plus behind me when I enter the real world. I would like to thank all who were involved in my year at Guilford, bye... We'll see ya!!

I see myself as a happy independent woman in 2000 with all the luxuries of life due to hard work.

Ruth Felicity Taylor

It's all over now. If life is a dream, you're part of it. Bye, Guilford. Hello ???

In 2000? I don't know what, where, or why I'll be doing then. I don't like making my predictions now.

Connie I love you.

Freshman year — Drunk 'ed down, dhp 'ed practice, Jerry — Waiting for Hagan's Heroes, Beeks — Who is this Wade character anyway, Bill — Football blowjobs, Sophomore year — Connie, Dunn trying to turn on my studies, 4 of a kind, Connie — Annual cookups, Jerry & Bill's house — Beer fights, Mort Roth — Too much Tequila for me, Lex team — The Wolfe nightmare begins, Junior year — Friendly Hills, The Big Red Machine, out the window! Connie & Cindy lie down from the potato and look at the flashlight angel, Connie — One great year together. Unwinding up and growing closer together. Summer school — Fun in Friendly Hills, get bruised in class, enjoy a nice chilly one and grab some sun. Senior year — Joe's house, and pool, Connie — Two great years, more to come. Accepts Moore — The best thing that ever happened to me — I will never let you go.

Connie I love you.

I see myself making six figures in 2000, being a vet and married with a few children. Living happily on Long Island and enjoying endless moments of golf.

I would like to thank Guilford College for allowing me to receive a good education and participate in varsity baseball. I will never forget the memories of being a freshman in the second floor Milner. Pig, Hoss, Worm, Dez, Cody, Gunz, Sudbury, TJ, Smitty, and Hendy. Thanks guys for a lot of great times during the baseball season. Next I would like to thank all the accounting professors who gave me an excellent education. Also thank Rich for getting a job for me. And last but not least, thank you CYNTHIA VALENTINE for a lot of great memories. It all began that second semester. Our freshman year and went on from there. All the parties, late night studying, Jan's house, and New York. I'm sure not some of the memories I will always treasure. Thanks Dad. Will be accounting for life and going fishing.

In the year 2000 I see myself living in North Carolina, participating in the public accounting profession, and managing my own accounting firm.

So I, thanks for all the great memories, I'm sure that there are more to come! Hey Lough, more to my getting a tan and to the adventure goes fast. Ray Dog Ed, Ugly Red Headed Dog (and music lover) Tom, the old dog can't tried to keep up down, but we just gave up drink a "bud" and back for more! We should have took the money and run! Tom's on Stephen Beam, glorious graduate in 1999. I can't handle the tomorrows in other year, especially at the cute Guilford's in the morning. Go Cavies! Brad, sorry I forgot to have you on your own, for your welcome at my place anytime! Finally, thanks Mom and Dad, Oh Crystal, mom's new Kansas City... Hey Jim what's that under your vest. I don't hope you didn't steal!

I have recently been elected the District Attorney of the City of Charlotte, in 2000. My wife Kelli Bailey Yurachek has just given birth to our fourth child. My Quaker education has finally taken its toll, I voted for a Democratic president. Lord forgive me it will never happen again.

Matt McHugh takes the comfortable approach towards graduation attire. Because there was a significant chance of rain on the afternoon of May 5, the commmencement excercises had to be moved into the gym, where air conditioning was pushed to 120% to accommodate the crowd.

COMMENCEMENT 1990 RIGHT

The Guilford College Graduating Class of 1990 passed from the classroom into the Alumni Association on Saturday, May 5, 1990. What at first seems to be an end is soon revealed to be a new beginning. On May 5, 1990 one of the most brilliant sunsets in recent memory could be seen form the Guilford campus; it was a fitting way to conclude the day, as well as one of the great times of our lives.

May						1990
	1	2	3	4	5
6	7	8	9	10	11	12
13	14	15	16	17	18	19
20	21	22	23	24	25	26
27	28	29	30	31

I looked all around me, and found myself a participant in something that wasn't supposed to be happening. Something that I knew was eminent. Something that in the back of my mind I fantasized about preventing by intentionally failing Accounting 201. Yet, here I was under the sweltering roof of the Ragan-Brown Field House in the middle of all the M's, surrounded by herds of relatives and friends. I could look in front of me and just start to make out what pals were near me, but it was difficult to distinguish faces underneath the virtual sea of caps and gowns. It was then that I discovered my close friends weren't necessarily in alphabetical proximity to me. No one around to pass notes to and try to crack up in the middle of the ceremonies. Even so, I doubt I could have caught their attention. I wasn't the only senior who appeared dazed. I could feel the cold metal of the spray can of Silly String in my pocket, but dashed my temptation to cut loose early. I hated this. Just when I needed a distraction most, I was alone.

Sitting there among the M's was a kid who experienced a lot in four years and desperately didn't want to leave it behind. As much as I hate to admit it, I can look back now on graduation and see that I was trying to cheat myself purposefully blocking out the greater significance of what was happening on that Saturday. I guess I didn't want to deal with the questions that kept popping up inside about what I had learned, and what exactly the last four years of my life were supposed to mean. I was conned about three hundred people who would walk out the doors of a very comfortable environment on May 5, 1990 to confront the reality that college does end, and as older sisters and brothers who had been there before reminded us almost gleefully: "Camp's over, kid".

So, I sat there on my wooden lawn chair among the M's, thinking about spending the rest of the day opening graduation gifts and having a terrific lunch in my honor, as most every graduating senior would enjoy, knowing that I could deal with the heavy aspects of leaving my second home and friends at some other time. As engaged as I thought I should have been with what was going on around me, I started to daydream midway through my commencement from Guilford College. It was almost the same as when you hear that a dying man sees his life pass before his eyes, only I knew that I would probably, in all likelihood, survive the heat of the acetate regalia I was wearing. I went off into lala land right there, right then, back to my arrival as a freshman...

I remembered silence. We were in the car together for what would be the last time in the then current chapter of our lives, and I had a lot of trouble bringing forth a single word during the trip. It was just Mom, Dad, and their last child to enter college—me, with nothing to my name but a car-full of my worldly possessions and a bad attitude. I was driving, for lack of interest in reading any more of Guilford's "welcome freshmen" propaganda in the back seat. I decided to leave it to Mom. She liked that kind of stuff. I was going to make damn sure that those people at Guilford didn't inoculate me with notions that I could ever have fun with people from anywhere other than my high school, which during this transitional period had become a Mecca-like symbol for me—a temple of salvation that I wouldn't be able to return to until Homecoming '88. And regardless of what anyone said, I was not going to make a home in Greensboro, or much less this itty-bitty little Quaker school that I couldn't really remember why I wanted to attend. I had made up my mind. And that, by God, was that. Arrival: 3:46pm at Founders Hall. Registration was over at 1:00pm. I was very late, and couldn't have begun to care. A finger reached out from the info desk in Founders lobby, pointing to the rear of the campus, and the utterance of a single, yet notorious word:

"Milner," the desk worker said "is that way."

I expected her to start saying something like Get the oath now after that, but it never came. Instead, Mom, Dad, and I made our way to this mysterious hut nestled watchfully between Founders, the athletic offices, the President's House, and the Groundskeeper's hut...

And now... the whole process was about to happen again. I would once more pack everything I owned into cardboard luggage and become a nomad with an A.B.

What does it all mean? Should we even bother with the answer? I think asking something like this is akin to the proverbial What's the meaning of life? Who knows. I have always liked to think that one of the greatest things Guilford allowed me to discover was a need for true meaning at a time of passage. Maybe the simple fact that I recognized what questions I should be asking was enough to clue me in to the answer.

I started to think about a Confucianism course I had as a junior that introduced me to the concept of Li, which basically states that we should affirm through words and actions the special moments of significance in our lives. I am not a religion major, but I had no trouble realizing the importance of this idea: recognizing the importance and significance of certain moments is what invests our lives with meaning.

I knew all that was happening with graduation would fall together at some point, and what I had learned and how I had changed would become evident. I felt that maybe the best thing I could do at the given time was to shelve the questions and just invest the moment with words and actions, confirming it with true significance—although how could I really sit back and absorb all the meaning of graduation? I was zoned—as were many classmates (partially because of the ceremony, partially because of the farewell parties the night before).

It took something close to blind faith for us to arrive here that morning in late August with the family car packed to the point of eruption. It took more than trust to give up our high school friends and home environment—it took courage and self-confidence, to the extent that inserting ourselves in a new world tested our capacities to deal with the awkward moments in new relationships. But basically, we knew that things would work out, as they always had, for the better.

Guilford has presented the the dualities of life to us in our courses. We can't experience beauty without learning to recognize ugliness, joy without recognizing sorrow, or pleasure without recognizing pain. We were exposed to images of the Holocaust and the violence in South America when we arrived as freshmen. We learned how close we stand to the brink of world destruction. We were forced to confront some harsh issues head-on—kind of a post-induction shock therapy. Guilford inspired a concept of life as a very delicate thing that can only be felt, much the same way that the arts, or athletics, or science puts one in touch, only for a moment, with purity and beauty. The first months here at Guilford were, needless to say, intense. We came to Guilford expecting to find this cinematic "college experience" that we were exposed to since we old enough to go in movie theaters without being in a stroller. Instead, we found that had we taken the Animal House route, we would have missed out on a soulful experience that was rich with humanity. We spent the next four years looking at the world, and ourselves, from a variety of different angles. We learned and grew together in areas we won't realize until many years from now.

So in the end, after I finally awakened from daydreams and confusion, I walked across the stage, shook Bill Roger's hand and accepted my diploma. Then I looked out to my left and glanced at my family, thinking to myself how much Mom and Dad were going to hate it when I cut loose with the can of Silly String. I had a terrific lunch. I opened my gifts. I returned later in the day to my room in Bryan to pack all of my things. It was then that the promise of rain that drove the ceremony into the gym came to fruition. There was a severe thunderstorm raging overhead while I was in the room. When I emerged with my bulging trash bags, plastic milk crates, and cardboard boxes, the storm had blown over. All that remained of May 5, 1990 was one of the most incredible sunsets I have ever seen—literally bursting at the horizon—it was almost unbelievable.

I dropped everything at that point and spent some time alone, just sitting on the back steps of Bryan, watching the sunbeams paint the azure sky with the reassurances and hope that bless any new birth.

Special thanks goes to a lot of people all over North Carolina and South Carolina: to the 1988-89 Community Senate Budget Committee and the 1989-90 Community Senate Executive Board for their trust and generosity, to Merry Moor Winnett for photographic consultation and colorization of the front cover, to Wilson J. Boggs for photographic technical assistance, to Garland Granger for elements of the Julie Workman memorial, to Amy & Carter Abel for their hospitality, to Carolina Camera Center for credit, to Steve Crompton for his patience, to the Office of Student Development for allowing us breathing space, to John W. L. Toivonen for his general attitude and outlook, to the Guilfordian Staff for their help and keeping us company, to WQFS for playing our requests, to Gary Klaus for his photographic negatives from the Berlin Wall, to Jan Prillaman and Liz Krusenstjerna for picture ID's, to the Registrar's Office for their assistance, to Harry Thomas of Jostens Printing and Publishing for his unflinching support and assistance, to Eric Reid for the helicopter, to Bernard Shepard for the group photo of the Book Move, to Geddy, Alex, and Neil for their background music, to Karen Personette and Betsy Merten for their mid-production critiques, to Dara Jacobs for writing captions, to the Computer Shoppe for Macintosh installation & support, to Mrs. C for her consideration and support, to the late-night staff at Jan's House, to Jeff Jeske for being a friend to all Pub Suite people, to Jay Underwood for tolerance and proofing, to Nancy Cable-Wells and Joanna Iwata for their trust and enthusiasm, to Tom Neff and Mike Waddell for sports info, and to the hundreds of other uncommonly nice people who through goodwill and understanding made this book happen: you are who this book is dedicated to—the very heart and soul of Guilford College!

INDEX

The 1990 Quaker is indexed as follows: student's name, hometown, class, major, campus address, and weeks where appearing in the book. Because the 1990 Quaker is catalogued chronologically, a date (month/first day of the week) is given in place of a page reference. Additional references are not given for seniors appearing in the senior section of the book.

Guilford College Student Publications Board

"What do I have to show for this year of my life?"

When the 1990 yearbook project started, we hoped to answer a lot of questions just like this one about who made up the college and what elements came together to make our year at this place unique. The answers we found are simple ones. Instead of trying to explain anything ourselves we let the year tell its own story in pictures; reflecting the candid day-in, day-out activities of the people who form this community. The 1990 Quaker is a chronicle of the people, places, events, emotions, and interactions that made up a special year in our lives that we all chose to spend at a place called Guilford.
